

Detail, Terraquae

Detail, Terraquae

Detail, Terraquae

Subterranean Field: Along the wall of the gallery, a closed environment, six feet high and eight feet long, houses approximately 10,000 termites and cherry wood veneers. The termites devour the thin sheets of wood, creating random patterns. Two television cameras scan the evolving ecological process from above and transmit the information to a matrix of monitors in the same gallery.